Our faculty are diverse and dynamic educators who incorporate both theory and practice and who help students acquire the knowledge, skills and competencies essential for effective teaching and learning. We encourage applications from professionals who can help us continue to develop the talents of our students and prepare exceptional and ethical teachers.

Responsibilities. Teach undergraduate art methodology courses to primary and secondary education majors; supervise student teachers during field experiences, including final teaching practice; teach ceramics and prepare students for exhibitions; engage in creative/scholarly work; assist in securing external grants and other funding opportunities; engage in curriculum review, revision and development; supervise the laboratory technician attached to the ceramics studio; participate in student recruitment and advisement; and serve on departmental, school, university-wide and external committees.
