Assistant/Associate Professor, Psychology

The Faculty of Social and Educational Studies is pleased to invite applications for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor, Psychology. This full-time appointment will begin 2 August 2018.

The Department of Psychology, Sociology and Social Work is seeking a faculty colleague with a background in biologically-based psychology, statistics and research methods; a strong commitment to undergraduate instruction; excellence in teaching and in the use of creative/innovative pedagogies; and a strong commitment to research and scholarship. The Department offers a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology which helps students acquire an appreciation for the value of psychological science in society; recognize the value of psychology in understanding and providing solutions for real-world problems; and identify models that help develop creative solutions to improve the societies in which we live. The capstone practicum facilitates a successful transition to the work force and/or graduate school. Students gain experience working in a mental health or human service setting and embed this in a learning context. They integrate knowledge, skills and competences gained in their courses and service-learning experiences and effectively showcase their evolving professionalism. We encourage applications from professionals who can help us continue to prepare exceptional and ethical students.

Responsibilities. Teach a variety Psychology courses; engage in research and scholarly activities; assist in securing external grants and other funding opportunities; engage in curriculum review, revision and development; participate in student recruitment and advisement; and serve on departmental, school, university-wide and external committees.

Qualifications. Candidates must have an earned PhD in Psychology or a related area from an accredited institution; a background in biologically-based psychology, statistics and research methods; excellent tertiary level teaching experience; evidence of scholarly research and publications; experience in programme review and development.

Setting. The University of The Bahamas (UB) is a vital catalyst for national development. Chartered on 10th November 2016, UB had its genesis in The College of The Bahamas which was established in 1974. Since 1995, the institution's academic offerings have expanded through the introduction of baccalaureate degree programmes offered across a broad range of approximately 60 majors. Master's degree programmes have included an MBA and an MSc in Reading and Inclusive Education as well as graduate degree programmes offered in collaboration with various US universities. UB operates from the Oakes Field Campus and the Grosvenor Close Centre in New Providence; UB-North in Grand Bahama; and the Gerace Research Facility in San Salvador. Additional sites are planned for throughout the archipelago.

Application. Application materials should include:

1. A cover letter describing academic philosophy and vision, research and publications;
2. Copies of academic qualifications;
3. Copies of transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate degree programmes completed;
4. A current and complete curriculum vitae;
5. Copy of relevant pages of a valid passport showing photo ID, passport number and expiration date;
6. Three letters of reference;
7. Completed UB Application for Employment Form found at this link:
